Enfield Park was gifted to Camelford Town Council (CTC) on August 9th, 1922 by Mr A.C. Tingcombe, who was born in Camelford in the year 1860. He served an apprenticeship with Mr W.H. Hayne, Draper, of Camelford and at the conclusion of his apprenticeship in 1880 he went to London. After spending a few years in the City, he commenced business in Enfield. He retired from business in 1920 and returned to his native town.

of Edinburgh and the Platinum Jubilee for HRH Queen Elizabeth II. Look out for plaques.

Gym equipment was installed in 2010 and is regularly serviced and maintained. It is hoped to add/replace some equipment in the near future.

A BBQ area was created in 2018 for users of the park.

Starting at the entrance gate, in 2018, a mural was commissioned (with funding from FEAST) in partnership with students of Sir James Smith's Community School. This bright and beautiful mural depicts some of the wildlife found in the park (with a little creative licence!)

In 2019, with funding from the Customer & Communities Improvement Fund for Great Western Railway, the play area was refurbished to promote the heritage of Camelford Station. A train structure and adventure trail (incorporating all 13 station signs from Halwill Junction to Padstow) was installed depicting the train's journey. The trail ends at the boat play apparatus, which was installed, together with swings, shelter and wetpour surfacing in 2018. A new see-saw, basket swing and disabled roundabout is planned in the near future. A new zip wire was installed in 2020.

Moving through the park, in 2021 the riverbank was rebuilt to stop further erosion of the park and will last for many years to come. The slate path from around the pond was removed for health and safety reasons and replaced with shingle. The pond is regularly cleared of weed.

In 2017, Broadwood Bridge was turned into a poetry bridge (with funding from FEAST). Community workshops were held in 2017 and 2022 (with European Development Welcome Back Funding), and the poetry from these workshops inscribed into boards attached to the bridge.

Enfield Park has seen many changes over the past 100 years, with much investment from CTC. The Estates and Properties Committee is responsible for overseeing the upkeep of the park. It has a dedicated grounds team who manage the "wild area" at the back of the park, as well as the more "kept" areas by the play area.

Memorial seating and trees can be seen around the park. A specimen broadleaf lime tree was planted to celebrate the Centenary of the park, and two copper beech trees to commemorate the life of the Duke
